mr. robert r. love
"one heck of a yearbook advisor"

The 1973 Saber Staff sincerely dedicates this page to Mr. Robert R. Love. After thirteen years of endless patience, late hours, and countless deadlines, Mr. Love has retired from his position as yearbook advisor.

Born in Garrett, Indiana on May 2, 1928, Mr. Love attended Indiana University and the University of Tennessee. A previous advisor of the Auburn Follies, Mr. Love has headed the Saber Staff since its beginning six years ago.

The 1973 yearbook staff says "thank you" to a great man.

Senior Janet Grate registers liberal Dave Stafford before the Mock Election.

The years 1972 and 1973 encompassed many landmarks in history. In '72, the tragic Summer Olympics were held in Munich, Germany, the U.S. re-elected President Nixon, and American Bobby Fisher defeated Russian Boris Spassky in the world's chess championship. In 1973, we witnessed the death of two former United States Presidents, the end of the Vietnamese War, the return of American P.O.W.'s, and the Watergate scandal.

In tribute to the deaths of former Presidents Truman and Johnson, DeKalb's American flag was flown at half-mast.

Junior Achievement is one of the many activities in which DeKalb High School students participate. Companies composed of students are sponsored by firms in the community. Each company elects its officers and produces products which are then sold. The business world becomes more relevant as these students participate in the production and transactions of their respective companies. During the year, J.A. students participate in a trade fair, enter contestants in the Miss J.A. Contest, and conclude the year with a banquet.

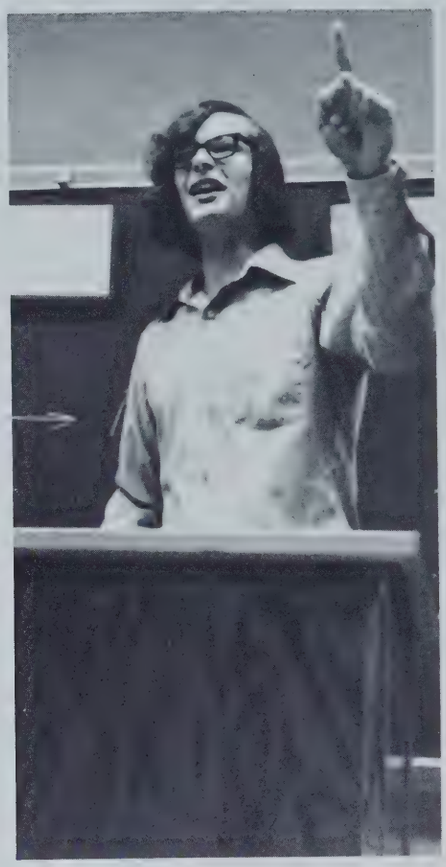
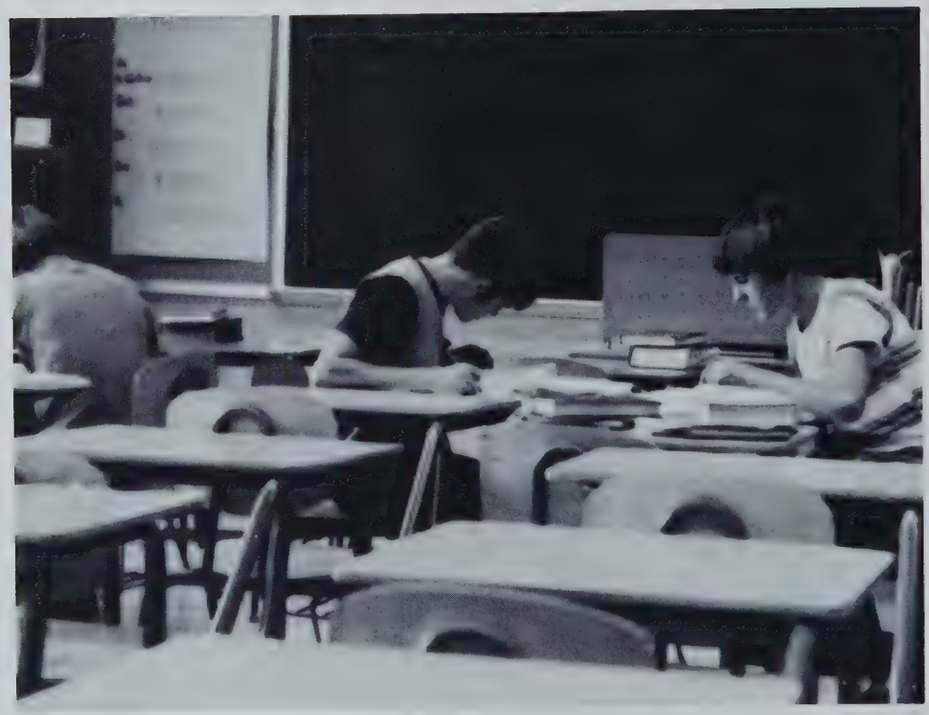
english classes develop basic

These students in Mrs. Anthony's English 9 class enjoy giving a skit on overeating.



"How to Get Someone's Attention" by John Bartos proved to be an exciting speech.

These freshmen seem to be working very hard on their English assignment.



skills in reading and writing

Mark Smith and Jeff Norris read their English books during class.

From Shakespeare to Dickens, from vocabulary words to diagraming sentences, from term papers to giving speeches, English students at D.H.S. have many ways of expressing themselves. Whether it is through writing or speaking, English classes help students develop their talents in these areas. English 9 and 10 teach students the basic skills in writing and speaking, and Composition and Speech improve these skills. World, English, and American Literature explore the past, present, and future. Drama and Theater Arts cultivate interest in all aspects of the theater. Journalism students study all areas of the newspaper, and Developmental Reading helps students improve their reading skills.

Mr. Harris helps this student improve her reading skills.

Seniors Margie Klein and Teri Sanders try to think of a topic for their Composition theme.

communication through languages

Brad Outland listens intently to another German lesson through his headphones.

Mark Collins is busy translating a story in French IV.

Mr. Vick listens to a new story in German and reads along with his German II class.

Norma Vanderpool, comprenez-vous?

Not only do the French, Spanish, Latin, and German students master the foreign language, but they also learn the customs, history, and cultural background of the countries. The beginning courses stress the conversational approach and the fundamentals of the language while the advanced courses emphasize greater reading comprehension and writing ability.

Bob Haywood is anxious to respond to the question in his Latin II class.

Sandy Baker thinks before she answers correctly in Latin.

Dave Graber inspects a Spanish toy in his Spanish I class.

Phil Shuman not only speaks Spanish, he looks Spanish.

Personal Typing appears to be a whiz for Carl Hoff.

The business world includes many facits, even putting up bulletin boards.

life with much practice and work

DeKalb offers a wide scope of business courses, from the basics of Personal Typing to the concentrated hours of Intensive Business Lab. Classes provide students with the fundamentals of bookkeeping, shorthand, record-keeping and typing. They also teach concepts of trans-actions, handling money, and everyday business affairs. A special project involved the Business Lab visiting a court house to observe a case in session.

Lori Taylor, Kathy Grile and Karen Smith get lots of practice with office work.

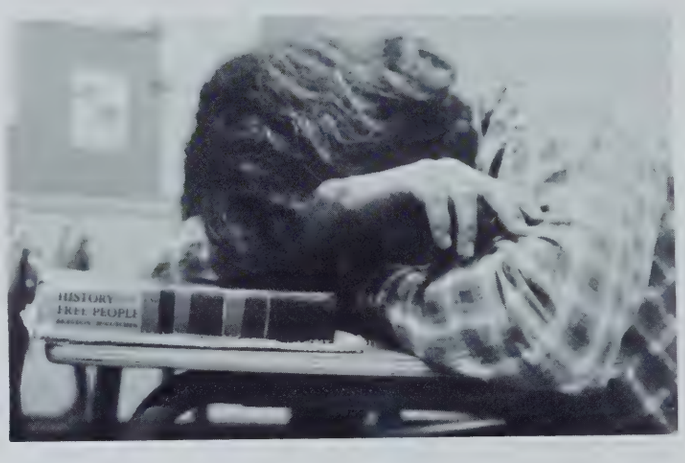
Mr. Hillabrand makes Business Math simple through the use of charts and lots of chalk.

Don Skelly concentrates on the finer points of Business Math.

different views of life come

Mr. Jones and Brenda Jernigan discuss U.S. History problems.

Students take an active part in the Social Studies Department. They cope with problems of ancient man in World History as well as present day situations in U.S. History. Seniors get an intensified view through passing bills in Government class and filing income tax forms in Economics. Psychology and Sociology deal with how and why people react the way they do in certain situations. To gain personal experience students may donate their time to community organizations and activities through Service Experience.



Mark Sattison takes time out to catch up on his sleep.

José González makes an effort to comprehend U. S. Government.

science and math students

Mr. Moreland lectures an important point to his Biology II class.

In Chemistry II class Jon Alger cleans up after an experiment.

From the hydrogen atom to dissecting a cat to solving equations, future scientists investigate the fundamentals of science and math. After freshman Survey Science, students may branch into Biology, Chemistry, Physics, or Aviation. Through many labs, science students discover the wonders of life. A variety of math courses are offered at DHS. Practical Math reviews previously learned math, while Algebra I and II offer an intense study of basic algebra. Geometry develops new outlooks of figures and shapes. Math IV includes Trigonometry and Analytic Geometry.

Where would science be without goggles?

home ec. is put to practical use

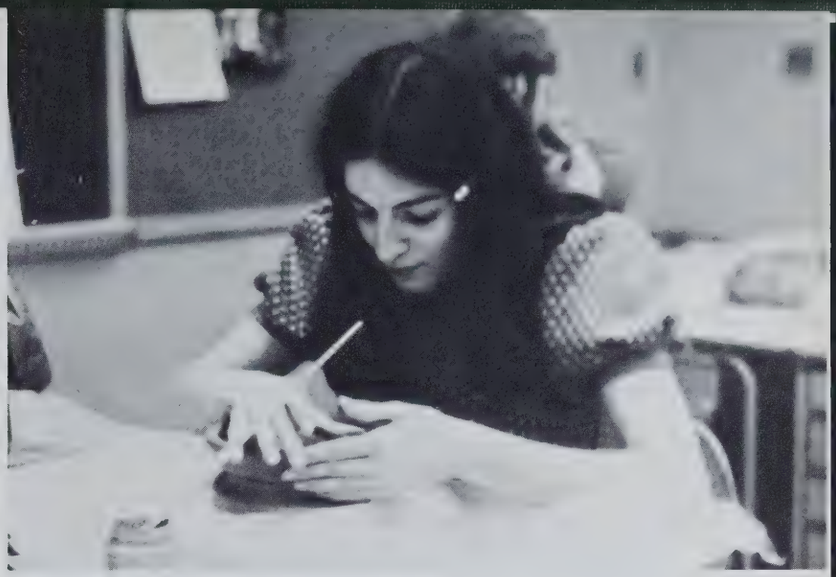
These "dolls in short dresses" model the smocks they made in Sewing I class.

Interests in cooking and sewing are shared at D.H.S., because males as well as females are enrolled in varied Home Economics classes. New, practical insights are gained by all Home Ec. students at DeKalb.

Connoisseurs Wayne Colby and Scott Robuck have gathered that finding the knob is a prerequisite to turning the stove on.

Galloping gourmet Joe Tompkins concocts his latest chef's delight with the aid of his trusty egg beater.

Senior Vickie McDonald exhibits the concentration necessary for water color painting.

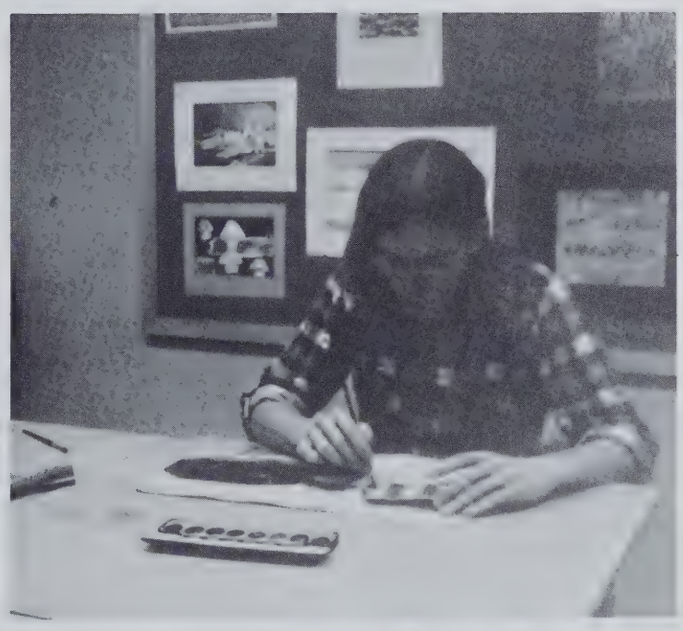


Senior Dian Means is absorbed in shaping original pottery.

art classes encourage creativity

Be it a charcoal drawing, a handmade rug, an oil painting, or ceramic pottery, the many facets of art offered at D.H.S. encourage and contribute to the individual's creativity.

Junior Emily Heffley's artistic creativity springs forth when she works with clay.



Striving for perfection, Senior John Deetz mixes colors for his painting.

industrial arts teaches the fundamentals of production

Industrial Arts teaches DeKalb students the basics of shop procedure. Classes in woodworking, drafting, and auto mechanics offer students valuable vocational training. Home Arts teaches girls how to repair minor things in the home. Actual experience in the classroom provides students with an excellent background.

d.h.s. craftsmen build new home

Mr. Potts carefully measures a board.

The Building Trades class, under the direction of Mr. Peter Potts, has built a new home on McIntyre Drive in Auburn. After the completion of the home, an open house was held and it was offered for sale to the public. Last year's B.T. home, owned by Mr. and Mrs. Wilmer Rediger, is located next to the new home.

The home built last year was the Building Trades' first actual experience in construction.

Rick Moore and Steve Wimer try to decide what to do with the next board.

A lot of hard work and determination goes into building this home.

crop, land, and stock improvement

Ag. class uses more resources than a textbook.

As a part of DeKalb's vocational department, many classes are offered in the line of agriculture. Students acquire not only facts about farming but also first hand experience with on-the-job training. Included in the curriculum are the production and care of livestock and crops and also management of a farm. An added section includes conservation of our natural resources for the benefit of all.

John Christlieb finds Ag. includes bookwork as well as practical experience.

Facts and methods must be learned before putting them into practical use.

lettermen's club; memories of athletic careers

Vice-President Marty Sattison wonders, "Where have all my customers gone?" as he experiences another night in concessions.

All athletes earning Varsity letters automatically become members of the Lettermen's Club. Concessions at basketball games certainly kept these guys hopping, but it all paid off in the end. A trip to a Chicago professional basketball game fulfilled their seasonal goal. Money was also donated to help purchase a Video-Rover Camera. Lettermen have brought to our school many trophies, school fame, school records and school spirit. Dedication to their individual sport and DeKalb High School are unforgettable memories.

The 1972 DeKalb Cross Country team, directed by Coach Niles Walton, compiled an impressive record of 15 wins and 3 losses. They placed 2nd in NEIAC, 3rd in Sectional, and 7th in Regional. They competed in 3 invitationals, placing 3rd in DeKalb's Invitational in a field of 12 teams. 10 teams were entered in the South Side Invitational, DeKalb taking 4th place honors, and they also grabbed 4th place at the Manchester Invitational among 10 teams.

On Qugust 18, 1972, five cross country runners set a new world endurance record, running 194 miles in 23 hours. The previous record was set by Munster High School, covering 176 miles in 24 hours.

The team will lose only 4 men through graduation. Junior Marshall Grate will be returning next year to lead the Barons. Marshall's best time this year was 12:06 for 2½ miles, clocked at the South Side Invitational. Other returning lettermen are Richard Depew, Matt Grate, Neal Holmes, Kevin Meyers, and Mark Peters.

reserves finish with 6-1 season

The Smith and Jones Gang opened a tremendous season with four straight wins and a fine record of being unscored upon in these games. The biggest victory of the season came over the Angola Hornets with a score of 32-0. Defense proved to be the Barons' strongest point as they blocked nine punt attempts. Varsity football has a bright and hopeful future with players like this.

They were "Rough and Tough!" The 1972 Varsity Football Team exploded into a victorious season, compiling a record of 6 wins and 3 losses. The Barons were coached by John Platt the first part of the season and were led into the last three games by Gary Hillabrand. With only 11 seniors, the Barons will probably be on top again next year.

The Men-In-Red found two of their players on the All Conference Team. Junior Pete Smith and Sophomore Dave Chalfant grabbed these two honors. Senior Lenny Kott and Junior Kevin Webb were placed on the third team for their fine performances.

Loyal Baron fans were always at the showings wrapped in blankets, freezing in the wind, but cheering for their beloved team. The cheerleaders helped add bliss and spirit when things looked down. It is appropriate to add that even when our Mighty Barons were being outscored, all fans remained Barons and couldn't have been prouder.

The Baron Racketmen finished their third winning season in a row this year with five wins and four losses. In NEIC play they smashed their way to a fourth place position in the midst of eight teams. Coach Bowman says that even though the team will lose their top three men, Dave Rose, Jeff Grogg, and Marc Collins, they will have two returning lettermen, Jim Dunn and Brad Jennings. The Barons' number one and two men, Dave Rose and Jeff Grogg, both finished the season with fine records of eight wins and two losses and nine wins and one loss respectively. With the upcoming underclassmen, next year promises to be another one full of excitement and victories for both Coach Bowman and the Baron Racketeers.

The DHS wrestlers, under the direction of experienced Coach Russ Smith, tallied a 6-8 record this year, but with only four lettermen graduating in '73, the future looks bright. The powerhouse of next year's team will include such faces as Junior Tim High, with a 17-2-1 record, Junior John Friedel, sporting 14-6, Junior Kevin Myers, finishing 11-7, and Sophomore Steve Graber chalking up an 8-6-1 record.

With the talent and determination of these boys and the rest of the team, the Baron grapplers can make 1974 a very good year for the sport of wrestling.

Coach Smith and Kevin Myers plan the strategy for the next round at the Woodlan meet.

The record accumulated by the Baron gymnasts doesn't show a winning season. However, each participant will tell you differently; it was a season for rebuilding. With only two seniors graduating, next year should prove to be more outstanding.

This season was the first for Coach Steve Bowman to be assisted by another coach. Mr. Richard Frary became an assistant coach, and the two of them were able to spend much more individual time with each boy.

The team placed fifth at sectional and went on to place a man in the top ten at the state meet. John Ober performed beautifully to give DeKalb a seventeenth place.

With the many returning lettermen, the outlook for next year's gymnastics team spells SUCCESS.

season record

The Barons started out the season with high hopes and only two returning lettermen. But these lettermen, Rick Roark and Dave Gafken, led the Barons to a 13-7 season and the N.E.I.C. conference crown. This was only the second time that DeKalb has won the conference trophy. Both Roark and Gafken also made the first team of the N.E.I.C. All-Conference Team. A highlight of the season was the fact that the Barons defeated the North Side Redskins for the first time in the history of DeKalb. They then bounced their way through the remainder of the season and even though it was one of the finest that DeKalb had ever seen, it ended abruptly in heartbreak as the Barons were defeated in a tough sectional game by the Fremont Eagles. When asked, Coach Wakenight said that this was the finest team he had yet coached at DeKalb High School and also stated that, even though he will be losing eight seniors, he feels next year will produce a winning team and a season of "surprises."

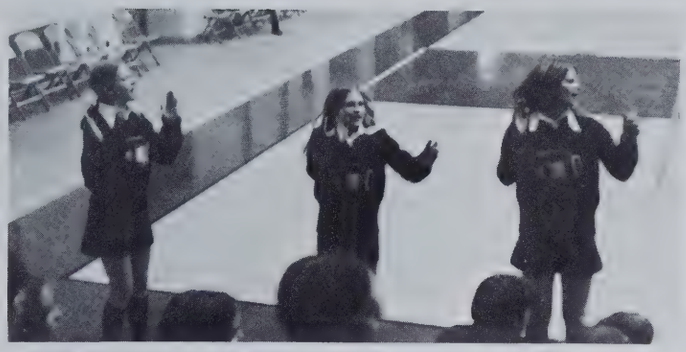
cheerleaders share memories in every sport



Becky Bower, Jan Ely, and Lynda Lepley began their cheerleading careers by leading their mini-Baron classmates to many thrilling victories.

The season is a long one for a cheerleader. It begins in the fall and doesn't end until the last baseball game is played in the spring. When a team wins, the cheerleaders win also. Their record could then be the total of all sports' wins and losses. These spirit-building girls have worked hard this year to improve the atmosphere at games. The Varsity squad attended a summer camp and became the first cheerleaders to bring home a trophy to the school. The job these girls dedicate themselves to is certainly no breeze. Along with their sponsor, Mrs. Jo David, they work many long, hard, and trying hours to build the school spirit. For their energetic enthusiasm, we honorably salute the outstanding twelve Lady Barons.

Scoring points in the Sectional were Marshall Grate and Gene Shatto. Grate placed second in the mile and Shatto placed fifth in the discus. In the Regional, Grate placed fourth, qualifying him for the State meet. Grate went on to place sixth at State.

John Myers takes several practice putts to loosen up for the meet.

Lost balls, birdies, sandtraps, broken tees, chips, and muddy creeks were typical features of the 1973 golf season, as the varsity golfers swung to another victorious year for DeKalb. Rainy weather tormented the golf team as three of their seventeen meets had to be rescheduled, but they finished with a 10-5-2 season.

This year's reserves will be the basis for the 1974 varsity team as four of the five varsity members are graduating. Since four of the reserve players are freshmen, hard work and determination should produce successful teams in the future.

The Baron varsity diamondmen, coached by Bill Jones and assistant Greg Vick, fought mud, rain, snow and sleet to finish the season with a 16-11 record. Highlights of the '73 season included a win over Garrett, sweeping three double-headers over North Side, Wayne, and Providence, respectively, and a seven-game winning streak. The team's total batting average raised over 50 points from the summer league competition. The team also hit 6 home runs this season, a new record.

DHS ballplayers were looked at by many pro baseball scouts. These scouts were very impressed by what they found, as Cy Voelkel was drafted as a fourth round choice by the Oakland Athletics.

The Reserves were frustrated by game cancellations due to the uncooperative weather, but gained enough experience to be an asset to DeKalb next year.

MEMORIAM

We cannot say, and will not say
That she is dead . . .
she is just away!
With a cheery smile,
and a wave of the hand,
She has wandered into an unknown land . . .
Think of her still as the same, we say;
She is not dead . . .
she is just away!
